A Bimetallist's Letter to the Chief Magistrate.

INCREASED COST OF THE DOLLAR.

Seventeen Thousand Bushels of Wheat Would Have Paid the President's Salary in 1873-Today it Requires Six Times as Much to Pay Only Double the Amount.

CHICAGO, April 16.-Mr. W. H. Harvey, chairman of the executive committee of the Bimetallic league, whose headquarters are in Chicago, publishes the following reply to President Cleveland's letter to the Chicago committee of business men: "In reply to your letter addressed to a committee of business men of this city we wish to say that the committee that waited on you and the persons who attached their names to the petition such committee pre sented did not represent a majority of the business men and citizens of this city who take a deep interest in the welfare of this republic. They represented the class that money fixed incomes. "We respectfully submit that your letter does not present the true merits of this | what we already owe. controversy. You call the attention of farmers and wage earners to the fact that rising prices, while enabling them to sell their products and labor at a higher price, will also cause them to pay equally more for what they may purchase, but you neglect to say that your statement is not applicable to debts. With prices coming down regularly and steadily since the demanufacturers and the people generally have been doing business on a falling market, so that the time intervening between the purchase of their merchandise or raw material and placing it months after on the market has removed the margin they would have otherwise made. This shrinkage in values, added to the ordinary risk and expense of business, has led to an ever increasing volume of debtto a money lending period-until it has Increased all the old debts, public and private, to about $10,000,000,000, or about two-

In the United States "Money, and those debts payable in money have been steadily increasing in exchangeable value with the property of the people A debt for $1,000 that 1,000 bushels of wheat would have paid ten years ago now requires the farmer to give no 2,000 hushels of wheat in exchange for these dollars with which to pay the same debt. The debts now in existence are principally old debts, or renewed debts, or new debts contracted to pay old debts, or debts the people have been forced to contract by reason of the continued decline in prices. The owners of the produers must now give up twice as much property to pay their taxes as in 1873. Seventeen thousand bushels of wheat would have paid the president's salary of $25,000 in 1873, and it now requires 100,000 bush-

thirds of the total value of all the property

els of wheat to pay your annual salary of

We have constantly pointed the people to the ever increasing interchangeable value of the creditors' dollar, and to the reason why it was increasing, but the influence of these creditors have dominated your administration, and you insist on such a currency as they have established as a sound currency. It means the confiscation of the property of the people by the sale of property under mortgage, judgments and executions. It means that fixed incomes will wipe out the interest of stockholders in our railroads and corpora-

"If it is an injustice to restore prices so that people can exchange their property for a sufficient number of dollars to pay their debts and bring happiness and prosperity to our land again, it was a greater injustice to destroy the value of property and enhance the value of money by demonetizing silver and the establishment of a single gold standard.

"When you call the attention of the farmer and wage earner to the fact that rising prices will make him pay more for what he buys you should at the same time call his attention to the fact that it will enable him to pay his debts, free him from a bondage in which he has been unjustly placed, and again make him the owner of a home and a tree and independent citizen. It is not more money that we want to borrow, but to pay off

"Our forefathers fled from Europe and established a government here that they might be free from the class legislation of those countries where the masses are the hewers of wood and drawers of water for the rich and few who control the law makmaking power; countries that we justly term plutocracies; and yet it is now being seriously insisted upon that we must monetization of silver, our merchants, adopt and continue the most pernicious ciass legislation that the monarchies of Europe have ever fastened upon their help less people

"By adopting their policy we have increased the demand for gold and its exchangeable value and all money based thereon with all other property. We have mided them in the adoption of a single metal for primary money, that they can control and corner-that they have cornered-and forced you to go to them and get it at their own price, to sustain the credit of this great and resourceful nation. We submit that this policy should be abandoned and our mints again thrown open to silver (as they are now to gold), and our stock of primary money increased thereby."

The Oil Excitement at Bradford. BRADFORD, Pa., April 16.—Not since the memorable Cherry Grove beom has Bradford been the scene of such excitement. Although no exchange is in existence here, those inclined to speculate have crowded the brokerage office of W. C. Higgins and have their orders executed on the floor of the Oil City Exchange. The greatest of excitement prevails, and the wires were kept hot. "Buy me five!" was the cry when the market opened, and it continued throughout the day. Field operations were brisk, and the oil well supply firms cannot fill their orders.

EARTHQUAKES IN EUROPE.

Inhabitants of Towns in Austria and Italy Panie Stricken.

ROME, April 16 -Severe earthquakes have been experienced at Treviso, Ferrarandine and Padua. At Venice four shocks were felt, causing the inhabitants to become panic stricken. The earthquakes extended from Vienna to Trieste in one direction, and from Klaggenfurth, capital of Cosintha, to Agram, capital of Crotis and Salvannio in the other. Twenty-five shocks were felt at Laibach, where two persons were killed.

A dispatch from Vienna says that in Laibach not a single house escaped without damage. The theater, museum and churches suffered severely. St. Mary's church is in rulus. Many persons were injured by falling chimneys. The damaged houses threaten to collapse, and the greater part of the population have taken refuge in the neighboring forests. The palace at Soda was damaged, and must be palace at Soul was damaged, and may pulled down. The dangerous buildings have been cordoned for military inspection. The people are in despair, fearing that the shocks will be repeated.

In Vienna the shocks were felt severely. In one theater the orchestra stopped playing, and immediately afterward the whole structure, walls, boxes, galleries and chandeliers, were seen swaying to and fro. The audience fled panic stricken into the street, thinking that every moment the building would fall. Many of the residents of Flume sought refuge aboard the ships in the harbor. Similar reports of panic come from numerous towns and villages. In many places the towers of the churches swung so violently than the bells in them rang.

Harrison Will Not Take the Stump. CLEVELAND, O., April 16.-Postmaster Anderson and Congressman Barton returned from Indianapolis today, where they went to invite ex-President Harrison to make an address before the convention of the league of Republican clubs, to be held in this city in June. Mr. Harrison said that he regretted very much his inability to address the convention, but that he could not do so consistently. "Mr. Harrison has taken the position that he will make no political speeches," said Mr. Burton. "He told us that the only reason he worked in New York in the interest of Morson last fall was that the story had been started that he was opposed to Mr. Morton, and he desired to show by his work that he was not."

A Woman Confesses Murder.

NEW ENGLAND FLOODS.

Great Damage to Railroads by the Surging Rivers.

TOWNS PARTIALLY SUBMERGED.

Vermont, but Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts Also Feel the Force of the Swollen Waters.

St. Albans, Vt., April 16 .- The Winooski river is higher than it has been for twenty five years. The country for miles around is one vast sheet of water, many farms being partially or wholly flooded. Several villages are using boats and rafts as a means of moving about. Much damage has been done to bridges, and washouts have occurred in many places on both railroads and highways. The railroad between Proctor and Central Rutland for a distance of three miles is under water, and has been abandoned. Many of the residents of Northfield and Central Rurland have been driven from their dwellings, the water having reached the first stories. It is thought that the water has reached its highest point. The most damage in Vermont was done at Bellows Falls, where the Connecticus river is very narrow. An old railroad bridge was swept away, and there has been great damage to the Boston and Maine railrail tunnel, bung flooded and rendered impassable. The mills are all closed. At Brattleboro, Vt., the river is higher than it has been since 1562. At Turner's Falls the water has overflowed the banks of the river to such an extent that many of the mills have been compelled to shut down. The Consolidated railroad tracks are flooded. At Windsor, Vt., the water has risen thirty feet, and business is almost entirely suspended.

At White River Junction, Vt., highways have become impassable and the rivers have overflowed their banks. The rise in Whiteriver at White River Junction exceeded ten feet, flooding basements and compelling the occupants of some houses to vacate. Boats were required for saving personal property in many in stances. All railroad trains there have been delayed and trains on the Central Vermont were cancelled. Trains on the Passumpsic division of the Boston and Maine are stopped because of the high water. Trains from Concord, N. H., are detained, as the tracks of the road are flooded here and at Frankiin, N. H.

Danger from the flood is over at Barre, to all appearances, and the people there breathe easier. The river has receded five feet from the point reached Sunday night. when the electric light went out leaving the city in darkness, water having flooded the fire room of the electric light station. Houses on streets adjacent to the river were vacated. The Central Vermont railroad has lost a trestle at Tabor's Crossing.

At Rutland there was a steady downpour of rain for fifty-two hours, and a flood is prevailing in the western Vermont valley that is almost without parallel. All trains to Boston and stations over the Rutland railroad have been cancelled because of washouts and the loss of a bridge at Chester.

THE FLOODS IN MAINE. Millions of Feet of Lumber Adrift and

Mills Closed Down. AUGUSTA, April 16.—The Kennebec river is still rising, and the wharves along the water front are entirely submerged. Millions of feet of lumber are coming down the river. At Brunswick the Androscoggin is the highest known in twenty years. The pumping station is under water. At Lisbon Falls 3.000,000 feet of lumber threatens to break loose, and grave fears are entertained for the safety of the Bowdoin Paper company's pulp mill, the foundation of which is said to have been shaken by the floods.

Saco river has overflowed its banks and has done much damage at Saco. On Water, Gooch and Lincoln streets the water is several feet deep, and many tenants have been compelled to vacate their homes. Boats are being used in these

The abutment at Bragdon's culvert, between Wells and Elms station, on the western division of the Boston and Maine railroad, was partly washed away by heavy rains, and all trains were discontinued between North Berwick and Biddeford. A wrecking train and a large crew of men from Portland are making repairs. The Mousam river at Kennebunk is higher than it has been for years, and all the mills have been forced to close down. All railroads centering at Portland report had washouts on their lines this morning. In many cases trains have been cancelled. At Bartlett the roadbed is badly damaged and the mountain division trains on the Maine Central have been cancelled. The Grand Trank road is inpassable. The rain tall is the heaviest in

Great damage has been done at Canton by the storm. The middle span of the bridge over the Androscoggin has been carried away and thousands of feet of logs

At Westbrook over 2,000 people are thrown out of work on account of the rise of the Preesumeott river, which is higher than it has been since 1861.

Flood Damage in New Hampshire.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., April 16.-The Piscataquah river has overflowed its banks in several places. At Union and Madison the tracks of the Boston and Maine railrond are covered with six feet of water, and passengers are being transferred by teams to special trains each side of the washouts. The Ammonuese river has reached a point not reached in the last thirty years. Between Littleton and Lisbon a bridge has been carried away, and the town of Lisbon is flooded in many places. The town of Bath is largely under water. An iron bridge at Lancaster has been swept away. A heavy landslide at Zeland carried away the Eastman sugar camp, causing considerable damage.

The Greatest Since 1862. SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 16.-The Connecticut valley has been the scene today of a flood of greater magnitude than has visited this section since 1862. At Northampton, Mass., the river is three-quarters of mile wide, and the water is higher than it has been in thirty years. Over nine feet of water is going over the big dam at Holyoke, and many mills have been compelled to shut down. Near Mount Tom the water has overflowed the railroad tracks, and trains are delayed. This city has not as yet been troubled by the high water, but West Springfield is flooded, and an old wooded bridge between Springfield and West Springfield is threatened. The water has already risen eighteen feet.

THE 'FRISCO CHURCH MURDERS. Evidence Accumulating Against Young

Durant, the Suspected Student. SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—Chief of Police Crowley claims to have evidence enough to convict W. H. T. Durant, the dental student, of the murder of Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams, in Emannet Baptist church. Durant had been attentive to both girls. The young man was librarian of the church and assistant superintendent of the Sunday school. He was familiar with the house, and carried one of the keys to its private door. In person he is a strong, well made young man of pleasing and cheerful address, and apparently devoted to his religious duties. He was the last person seen in Blanche Lamont's company on the day of her disappearance. The three rings belonging to Blanche Lamont and sent to her aunt on Saturday were wrapped in paper upon which were written the names of George R. King, organist of the church, and Professor Shoenstein, who taught her music, and not the name of Durant, as reported. Experts declare this writing is that of Durant, slightly disguised. King was also a friend of Blanche, but Schoenstein is an elderly man and is not suspected. The police think Durant tried to throw suspicion on these two men, that attention might not be directed to himself.

Another young lady, also a member of the Emanuel church, says Durant told her she had a female complaint, and gave her medicine which benefitted her. Afterwards he advised her to allow him to make a personal examination. She indignantly refused. Durant continued to urge it, saying there was a room in the church to which he had a key where the examination could be secretly and safely made. It is surmised that Durant may have lured the murdered girls into the church on a similar pretext.

ries are preparing to return to their homes.

WASHINGTON, April 16.-There was no information optainable on the subject of peace in China at the Jananese legation this morning. The official to whom the dispatch was shown was inclined to credit the report that a treaty of peace had been signed, as in view of the near approach of the termination of the armistice some ac-tion was probable. Still, nothing had been received at the legation to confirm the statements contained in the dispatch.

President Greenhut's Denial,

CHICAGO, April 16.-J. B. Greenhut, president of the whisky trust, and Nelson Morris have made answer in the United States circuit court to the charges of Receiver McNulta ou the catale feeding contract, alleged to have been fraudulently conducted to the detriment of the trust, and for whose abrogation the receiver has petitioned the court. Both deny that there was or is any intention to defraud, and allege that there will be some profits to share with the receiver at the end of the season. They assert that the abrogation of the contract at this time will entail a serious loss.

King Oscar Would Not Fight.

BERLIN, April 16.-The Frankfort Zeitung states on good authority that King Oscar, of Sweden and Norway, takes a pessimistic view of the political situation in his kingdom. He fears that the troubles will develop into a dangerous conflict. If it comes to an open breach, the king will probably abdicate rather than undertake the responsibility of an armed struggle. he crown prince, who would then ascend the throne, entertains no friendly feelings toward Norway, and certainly would not yield to the Norwegian demands.

President Cleveland's Fortune.

WASHINGTON, April 16.-The officers of the internal revenue bureau will not reveal the figures in President Cleveland's income. They are prohibited by law from divulging them, but it is learned on the very highest authority that they disprove the assertions recently that the president was a millionaire. His total income outside of his salary as president does not exceed $20,000 per annum, it is said. His total wealth is said by best authority to be, only $250,000.

The Weman's Edition of the Elmira Advertiser-Easter Ratment and Raw ₩2nds-A Little Woman's Easter Fincry-The Absurd Compulsory Educa tion Law-A Married Woman Rounded Up and forced to Attend School

Many copies of the woman's edition of the blmira Advertiser were sold in this city, Saturday. It was a very large paper and represented a vast deal of work. Some of the departments were very creditable; the local field was well covered and the items were written in a fresh, crisp, unconventional style, that regular new spaper writers might imitate with advantage. The editorial page was by far the best and brightest of the paper, which, taken as a whole, was decidedly heavy. I know that this is shockingly ungallant and I would not venture to express such an opinion if I was not at a safe enough distance from Elmira to make the wrath of Eimira women a matter of unconcern. Looking at the paper from a newspaper man's point of view it seems to me that the trouble with it is that its editors were more anxious that their friends, or women of recognized social position should be numbered among the contribufors to the woman's Advertiser, than they were that the articles should be the very best obtainable. That isn't the way good newspapers are made. The editors of the woman's edition of the Angre ought to be able to get from the woman's Adnertiser many valuable ideas as to what to do and what not to do in the way of making a paper,

Many people rushed the seasor, yesterday, and despite the raw and skilling wind, appeared on the streets popular notion that, no matter what | wheel, causing it to capsize. the weather, Easter Sunday is the time for doning Spring garments, helps to enrich the doctors and fill the graveyards.

I met a veritable little woman on her way to Sunday School, yesterday morning, who interested me greatly. She had evidently come from a home of noverty and, worse still, from a Tome in which the mother was too ignorant, too shiftless or perhaps too busy or too weak to make good use of the poor materials she could afford to buy for her child's clothing. The skirt of the dress, of coarse material and bideous pattern, bung in ungraceful bags and folds almost to her feet for provision had evidently been made for impossible contingencies of growth. Her jacket, worn and faded. was as much too small as her dress was too large. Tucked under the dress waist was the poor girl's one bit of Easter finery, a painfully new handkerchief with a gay border, which might possibly have cost ten ments. It was folded so as to display all its beautier, and as the girl walkad along the street she smoothed and patted it, looking at it all the time to anjoy the fine effect. I could not belp smiling at the little woman's vanity, and yet I could not but see to pathetic side of a life so narrow and so barren that the possession of a ten cent handkerchief was a dis-East epoch in it. I don't believe that any or the fair women who came out, yesterday, in new gowne, new wraps and new hats got more personal satisfaction out of their Easter finery than the little girl of whom I write got out of her Easter hanck rchief. And what a blessed thing it is that little things round out and fill with happiness lives to which only little things are possible.

The compulsory education law as enforced in this city is full of absurdities. This is not the fault of the Board of Education, of the Superin-Leadent of Schools, or of the estimable bogie man who chases truents for $35 a month and "finds himself." The law is about as absurd a piece of legislation as ever found its way on the statute books, and like many re-Cent laws is a gross invasion of private rights. It cannot be effectively enforced against those who ought to he reached by it, and I am very much mistaken if the lessons learned is dodging the truant officer, by begetting a contempt of all law, don't prepare the way for dodging other officers of the law in later life. It Resms to me a monetrous thing that a boy or girl of school age, who hap one to be on the street during obool hours, should be subjected to . he humiliation of being held up by f truant officer and compelled to I ive an account of himself or herself. "Le law puts a premium on falscgood, for it is an open secret that arents lie about the ages of their midren and, worse still, tell their . Adren to He when questioned a out their ages.

Ye my indignation at this latest exemplification of paternalism in goy rument run mad, I have got 'ar away from the particular absurdty of the law's enforcement that I and in min l. In attendance on one of the city's schools is a married womrun, who was discovered by the bogie rian to be under sixteen years of age and who was ordered by him to atend school or suffer arrest and all sorts of nepalties. To the Public.

We wish to state to the public in general and oil consumers pacticu larly that we are handling a superior grade of kerosene, gasolene and all illuminating oils. Our kerosene, known as White Bear Oil, is so much superior to any other in the market that some merchants are selling other oils for our goods and under our brand. On account of recent advances in price of both crude and re fined oils the merchants are obliged to retail our oil for twelve cents per gallon. We are in no way connected with any other oil company nor do we want the earth, simply fair and honest competition. If your dealer does not handle our oils insist upon his doing so and do not pay a firstclass price for a second-class product, our oils can be had from the following named merchants

A Bimetallist's Letter to the Chief Magistrate.

INCREASED COST OF THE DOLLAR.

Seventeen Thousand Bushels of Wheat Would Have Paid the President's Salary in 1873-Today it Requires Six Times as Much to Pay Only Double the Amount.

CHICAGO, April 16 .- Mr. W. H. Harvey, chairman of the executive committee of the Bimetallic league, whose headquarters are in Chicago, publishes the following reply to President Cleveland's letter to the Chicago committee of business men:

"In reply to your letter addressed to a committee of business men of this city we wish to say that the committee that waited on you and the persons who attached their names to the petition such committee presented did not represent a majority of the business men and citizens of this city who take a deep interest in the welfare of this republic. They represented the class that owns the money and securities payable in money fixed incomes. "We respectfully submit that your letter does not present the true merits of this controversy. You call the attention of farmers and wage earners to the fact that rising prices, while enabling them to sell their products and labor at a higher price. will also cause them to pay equally more for what they may purchase, but you neglect to say that your statement is not applicable to debts. With prices coming down regularly and steadily since the demonetization of silver, our merchants, manufacturers and the people generally have been doing business on a falling market, so that the time intervening between the purchase of their merchandise or raw material and placing it months after on the market has removed the margin they would have otherwise made. This shrinkage in values, added to the ordinary risk and expense of business, has led to an ever increasing volume of debtto a money lending period-until it has increased all the old debts, public and private, to about $10,000,000,000, or about twothirds of the total value of all the property In the United States

"Money, and those debts payable ir money, have been steadily increasing in exchangeable value with the property of the people. A debt for $1,000 that 1,000 bushels of wheat would have paid ten years ago now requires the farmer to give up 2,000 bushels of wheat in exchange for these dollars with which to pay the same debt. The debts now in existence are principally old debts, or renewed debts, or new debts contracted to pay old debts, or debts the people have been forced to contract by reason of the continued decline in prices. The owners of the products must now give up twice as much property to pay their taxes as in 1873. Seventeen thousand bushels of wheat would have paid the president's salary of $25,000 in 1873, and it now requires 100,000 bush-

els of wheat to pay your annual salary of

We have constantly pointed the people to the ever increasing interchangeable value of the creditors' dollar, and to the reason why it was increasing, but the influence of these creditors have dominated your administration, and you insist on such a currency as they have established as a sound currency. It means the confiscation of the property of the people by the sale of property under mortgage, judgments and executions. It means that fixed incomes will wipe out the interest of stockholders in our railroads and corpora-

"If it is an injustice to restore prices so that people can exchange their property for a sufficient number of dollars to pay their debts and bring happiness and prosperity to our land again, it was a greater injustice to destroy the value of property and enhance the value of money by de-monetizing silver and the establishment of a single gold standard.

"When you call the attention of the farmer and wage earner to the fact that rising prices will make him pay more for what he buys you should at the same time call his attention to the fact that it will enable him to pay his debts, free him from a bondage in which he has been unjustly placed, and again make him the owner of a home and a free and independent citizen. It is not more money that we want to borrow, but to pay off what we already owe.

"Our forefathers fled from Europe and established a government here that they might be free from the class legislation of those countries where the masses are the hewers of wood and drawers of water for the rich and few who control the law makmaking power; countries that we justly term pintocracies; and yet it is now being seriously insisted upon that we must adopt and continue the most pernicious class legislation that the monarchies of Europe have ever fastened upon their help-

"By adopting their policy we have increased the demand for gold and its exchangeable value and all money based thereon with all other property. We have nided them in the adoption of a single metal for primary money, that they can control and corner-that they have cornered-and forced you to go to them and get it at their own price, to sustain the credit of this great and resourceful nation. We submit that this policy should be abandoned and our mints again thrown open to silver (as they are now to gold), and our stock of primary money increased thereby."

The Oil Excitement at Bradford. BRADFORD, Pa., April 16.-Not since the memorable Cherry Grove boom has Bradford been the scene of such excitement. Although no exchange is in existence here, those inclined to speculate have crowded the brokerage office of W. C. Higgins and have their orders executed on the floor of the Oil City Exchange. The greatest of excitement prevails, and the wires were kept hot. "Buy me five!" was the cry when the market opened, and it continued throughout the day. Field operations were brisk, and the oil well supply firms cannot fill their orders.

EARTHQUAKES IN EUROPE.

Inhabitants of Towns in Austria and Italy Panie Stricken.

ROME, April 16 .- Severe earthquakes have been experienced at Treviso, Ferrarandine and Padua. At Vonice four shocks were felt, causing the inhabitants to become panic stricken. The carthquakes extended from Vienna to Trieste in one direction, and from Klaggenfurth, capital of Cosintha, to Agram, capital of Crotis and Salvannio in the other. Twenty-five shocks were felt at Laibach, where two persons were killed.

A dispatch from Vienna says that in Laibach not a single house escaped without damage. The theater, museum and churches suffered severely. St. Mary's church is in rains. Many persons were injured by falling chinneys. The damaged houses threaten to collapse, and the greater part of the population have taken refuge in the neighboring forests. The palace at Soda was damaged, and must be pulled down. The dangerous buildings have been cordoned for military inspection. The people are in despair, fearing that the shocks will be repeated.

In Vienna the shocks were felt severely. In one theater the orchestra stopped playing, and immediately afterward the whole gructure, walls, boxes, galleries and chandeliers, were seen swaying to and fro. The audience fled panic stricken into the street, thinking that every moment the building would fall. Many of the residents of Fiume sought refuge aboard the ships in the harbor. Similar reports of panic come from numerous towns and villages. In many places the towers of the churches swung so violently that the bells in them rang.

Harrison Will Not Take the Stump.

CLEVELAND, O., April 16.-Postmaster Anderson and Congressman Burton re-turned from Indianapolis today, where they went to invite ex President Harrison to make an address before the convention of the league of Republican clubs, to be held in this city in June. Mr. Harrison said that he regretted very much his inability to address the convention, but that he could not do so consistently. "Mr. Harrison has taken the position that he will make no political speeches," said Mr. Burton. "He told us that the only reason he worked in New York in the interest of Morton last fall was that the story had been started that he was opposed to Mr. Morton, and he desired to show by his work that he was not."

A Woman Confesses Murder. CHICAGO, April 16 .- With his head almost severed from his body William Ferguson, colored, was found lying on the floor in Pearl Smith's room, at 157 West Lake street. A few minutes later Pearl Smith, also colored, who confessed to the crime, was arrested. Ferguson had been living with the Smith woman. Ferguson is said to have served a two years' term in the penitentiary for cutting the woman.

A Witness' Sensational Confession.

RUTLAND, Vt., April 16.-The trial of Henry Harris for the murder of Henry Demille Lawrence came to a sudden termination yesterday. Albert Brown, a state witness, confessed that his father and himself killed Lawrence at their home. and that Harris knew nothing of it. Harris was at once acquitted and released. Brown's father and mother, who witnessed the murder, are dead.

The Fate of Cyclist Lenz.

LONDON, April 16.-The Daily News publishes an Armenian letter giving the result of the inquiries made to ascertain the fate of Frank Lenz, the American bicyclist who disappeared in Armenia while engaged in making a tour of the world. The writer of the letter says he hears that Lenz was shot dead on the road between Kourtali and Zahar.

Boston Subway Bill Practically Defeated. Boston, April 16.-The Boston subway received a blow in the legislature when the house voted, 98 to 72, to order to a third reading the bill repealing the law relative to the construction of subways in the city of Boston. The committee on judiciary has reported adversely on the bill to prohibit the use of high hats in Fatally Injured by a Train.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., April 16.-While crossing the railroad in a grocery wagon yesterday Andrew Cooper, aged 22, and Wilbur Rogars, aged 15, received injuries that will probably result fatally. The wagon was struck by an express train on the Baltimore and Ohio road. Both horses were killed and the wagon demolished.

A Murder Witness Becomes Insane,

St. Louis, April 16.-Rose Fatelle, the ervant girl employed in the household of Dr. Arthur Dueslow, the millionaire who murdered his wife and son last year, has gone insane as the result of seeing the hortible crime committed.

A Veteran of Two Wars.

YANKTON, S. D., April 36.—General C. T. Campbell, one of the proneers of this state, died yesterday at Scotland, S. D. He was a veteran of two wars and colonel of the Fifty-seventh Pennsylvania regiment in the civil war.

NEW ENGLAND FLOODS.

Great Damage to Railroads by the Surging Rivers.

TOWNS PARTIALLY SUBMERGED.

Reports of Greatest Damage Come From Vermont, but Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts Also Feel the Force of the Swollen Waters

ST. ALBANS, Vt., April 16 .- The Winooski river is higher than it has been for twenty five years. The country for miles around is one vast sheet of water, many farms being partially or wholly flooded. Several villages are using boats and rafts as a means of moving about. Much damage has been done to bridges, and washouts have occurred in many places on both railroads and highways. The railroad between Proctor and C-utral Rutland for a distance of three miles is under water, and has been abandoned. Many of the residents of Northfield and Central Rutland have been driven from their dwellings, the water having reached the first stories. It is thought that the water has reached its highest point.

The most damage in Vermont was done at Beliows Falls, where the Connecticut river is very narrow. An old railroad bridge was swept away, and there has been great damage to the Boston and Maine railroad tunnel, being flooded and rendered impassable. The mills are all closed. At Brattleboro, Vt., the river is higher than it has been since 1892. At Turner's Falls the water has overflowed the banks of the river to such an extent that many of the mills have been compelled to shut down. The Consolidated railroad tracks are flooded. At Windsor, Vf., the water has risen thirty feet, and business is almost entirely suspended. At White River Junction. Vt., highways have become impassable and the rivers have overflowed their banks. The rise in White river at White River Junction exceeded ten feet, flooding basements and compelling the occupants of some houses to vacate. Boats were required for saving personal property in many in stances. All railroad trains there have been delayed and trains on the Central Vermont were cancelled. Trains on the Passumpsic division of the Boston and Maine are stopped because of the high water. Trains from Concord, N. H., are detained, as the tracks of the road are flooded here and at Franktin, N. H.

Danger from the flood is over at Barre, to all appearances, and the people there breathe easier. The river has recoded five feet from the point reached Sunday night. when the electric light went out leaving the city in darkness, water having flooded the fire room of the electric light station. Houses on streets adjacent to the river were viscated. The Central Vermont railroad has lost a trestle at Tabor's Crossing.

At Rutland there was a steady down pour of rain for fifty-two hours, and a flood is prevailing in the western Vermont valley that is almost without parallel. All trains to Boston and stations over the Rutland railroad have been cancelled because of washouts and the loss of a bridge at Chester.

THE FLOODS IN MAINE. Millions of Feet of Lumber Adrift and Mills Closed Down.

AUGUSTA, April 16.—The Kennebec river is still rising, and the wharves along the water front are entirely submerged. Millions of feet of lumber are coming down the river. At Brunswick the Androscoggin is the highest known in twenty years. The pumping station is under water. At Lisbon Falls 3.000,000 feet of lumber threatens to break loose, and grave fears are entertained for the safety of the Bowdoin Paper company's pulp mill, the foundation of which is said to have been shaken by the floods.

Saco river has overflowed its banks and has done much damage at Saco. On Water, Gooch and Lincoln streets the water is several feet deep, and many tenants have been compelled to vacate their homes. Boats are being used in these streets. The abutment at Bragdon's culvert, be tween Wells and Elms station, on the western division of the Boston and Maine railroad, was partly washed away by heavy rains, and all trains were discontinued between North Berwick and Bidde ford. A wrecking train and a large crew of men from Portland are making repairs. The Mousam river at Kennebunk is higher than it has been for years, and all the mills have been forced to close down.

All railroads centering at Portland report bad washouts on their lines this morning. In many cases trains have been cancelled. At Bartlett the roadbed is badly damaged and the mountain division trains on the Maine Central have been cancelled. The Grand Trunk road is impassable. The rain fall is the heaviest in

Great damage has been done at Canton by the storm. The middle span of the bridge over the Androscoggin has been carried away and thousands of feet of logs

At Westbrook over 2,000 people are thrown out of work on account of the rise of the Preesumcott river, which is higher than it has been since 1861.

Flood Damage in New Hampshire.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., April 16.-The Piscataquah river has overflowed its banks in several places. At Union and Madison the tracks of the Boston and Maine railroad are covered with six feet of water, and passengers are being transferred by teams to special trains each side of the washouts. The Ammonuese river has reached a point not reached in the last thirty years. Between Littleton and Lisbon a bridge has been carried away, and the town of Lisbon is flooded in many places. The town of Bath is largely under water. An iron bridge at Lancaster has been swept away. A heavy landslide at Zeland carried away the Eastman necticut valley has been the scene today of a flood of greater magnitude than has visited this section since 1862. At Northampton, Mass., the river is three-quarters of a mile wide, and the water is higher than it has been in thirty years. Over nine feet of water is going over the big dam at Holyoke, and many mills have been compelled to shut down. Near Mount Tom the water has overflowed the railroad tracks, and trains are delayed. This city has not as yet been troubled by the high water, but West Springfield is flooded, and an old wooded bridge between Springfield and West Springfield is threatened. The water has already risen eighteen feet.

THE 'FRISCO CHURCH MURDERS.

Evidence Accumulating Against Young Durant, the Suspected Student.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—Chief of Police Crowley claims to have evidence enough to convict W. H. T. Durant, the dental student, of the murder of Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams, in Emannet Baptist church. Durant had been attentive to both girls. - The young man was librarian of the church and assistant superintendent of the Sunday school. He was familiar with the house, and carried one of the keys to its private door. In person he is a strong, well made young man of pleasing and cheerful address, and apparently devoted to his religious duties. He was the last person seen in Blanche Lamont's company on the day of her disappearance.

The three rings belonging to Blanche Lamont and sent to her aunt on Saturday were wrapped in paper upon which were written the names of George R. King, organist of the church, and Professor Shoen stein, who taught her music, and not the name of Durant, as reported. Experts declare this writing is that of Durant, slightly disguised. King was also a friend of Blanche, but Schoenstein is an elderly man and is not suspected. The police think Durant tried to throw suspicion on these two men, that attention might not be directed to himself.

Another young lady, also a member of the Emanuel church, says Durant told her she had a female complaint, and gave her medicine which benefitted her. Afterwards he advised her to allow him to make a personal examination. She indignantly refused. Durant continued to urge it, saying there was a room in the church to which he had a key where the examination could be secretly and safely made. It is surmised that Durant may have lured the murdered girls into the church on a similar pretext.

Cheering the Spanish "Peacemaker." HAVANA, April 16.—General Martinez Campos, who arrived at Porto Rica on Thursday last, sailed at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon for Gannsanamo, Guba. ASSERVATON, April 16.—Theodore Lam bert, the Camden county, N. J., murderer, in whose behalf his attorney, John L. Semple, made such an unusual fight last winter, must hang, the supreme court of the United States yesterday having dismissed his appeal from the judgment of Judge Dallas refusing to issue a writ of habeas corpus for want of jurisdiction. The case will now be returned to the state, and Governor Werts will set a day for the hanging.

LONDON, April 16.-A dispatch from Shanghai says that Li Hung Chang's son-in-law telegraphs that a peace convention was signed at Shimonoseki yesterday by the plenipotentiaries of China and Japan. Following are the terms of the convention.

Not Confirmed at Washington. WASHINGTON, April 16.-There was no information optainable on the subject of peace in China at the Japanese legation this morning. The official to whom the dispatch was shown was inclined to credit the report that a treaty of peace had been signed, as in view of the near approach of the termination of the armistice some action was probable. Still, nothing had been received at the legation to confirm the statements contained in the dispatch. President Greenhut's Denial. CINCAGO, April 16.-J. B. Greenhut, president of the whisky trust, and Nelson Morris have made answer in the United States circuit court to the charges of Receiver McNulta on the cattle feeding contract, alleged to have been fraudulently conducted to the detriment of the trust, and for whose abrogation the receiver has petitioned the court. Both deny that there was or is any intention to defraud, and allege that there will be some profits to share with the receiver at the end of the season. They assert that the abrogation of the contract at this time will entail a

King Oscar Would Not Fight.

BERLIN, April 16.-The Frankfort Zeltung states on good authority that King Oscar, of Sweden and Norway, takes a pessimistic view of the political situation in his kingdom. He fears that the troubles will develop into a dangerous conflict. If it comes to an open breach, the king will probably abdicate rather than undertake the responsibility of an armed struggle. The crown prince, who would then ascend the throne, entertains no friendly feelings toward Norway, and certainly would not yield to the Norwegian demands.

Beech Creek Miners' Convention.

PHILIPSBURG, Pa , April 16.—The miners of the Philipsburg Beech creek district have been notified to hold meetings at the mines to elect delegates to a convention to be held in this place tomorrow, to take action with reference to making a demand for an advance and to send representatives to the district convention to be held at Dubois on the 19th. While men prominent in the mining class do not anticipate a strike in either the Clearfield or Beech Creek regions, the fact that conventions are being held in several places in the district leads to the near that the agitation may yet bring about a strike, especially because of the large number of miners who have not secured work since the last strike.

Why Beer Kegs Are Made So Thick. It takes a long while for a beer key to wear out. It has a tough constitution and is protected from internal decay by a coat of pure and hard pitch. The pitch used on the modern keg is much superior to that formerly used. It is clear, tasteless and tough. An empty beer keg will stand a great many hard knocks before the pitch scales off.

The kegs wear ont, when they do wear, externally. They are wet and dry alternately, and this promotes decay. Then they get a great deal of unnecessary banging around between the time they leave the brewery and are brought back again. Everybody, from the driver and railroad and steamboat hands down to the barkcepers, seems to think the kegs are indestructible. A whole car load of empty kegs is frequently thrown from the car down to the ground. A single empty keg is often thrown 15 feet. It really isn't necessary to make the kegs as heavy, so far as the keeping of the beer is concerned. They began by being made heavy in the old days. The brewers then deemed it absolutely requisite to make them that way to withstand the pressure of the beer. The very fact that they were made heavy and clumsy subjected them to rough handling. Now they have to be made heavy and extra material has to be put into the heads and staves simply because of this handling and not from any danger on account of the internal pressure of the beer.—Chicago Tribune.

Has Fun With His Coffee.

"Some folks can't drink coffee unless it's hot," said Mr Goslington, "and I don't like coffee unless it is freshly made and served hot, but I like to drink it through all its varying phases from hot to pretty nearly cold. I like a sip of it, when first poured, without sugar or any milk or cream, when its aroma is fresh and pungent and complete and quite unmarred by the admixture of any foreign substance whatever. Then I put in the usual quantity of sugar and of cream, and then you have the cup of coffee in its highest normal state, and how delightful it is! Then, as I drink it, I add more cream. The remainder becomes more and more diluted, cooler and lighter and lighter in color. The coffee flavor becomes more and more attenuated, but it is nevertheless keenly defined, and it so continues to the end. The last of the cup is only tinged with the color of the coffee. It is not cold, but nearly so. By contrast with what you have drank it is gratefully cool. A sip of cream with a coffee bouquet, and you set down the cup with a friendly feeling for it for what it has contained."—New York Sun.

GREAT DAMAGE BY FLOODS.

Last Week's Freshet the Most Destruc tive Ever Known on the Delaware Water Shed-Effects of Cutting Away

the Forests. From Our Up Midland Correspondent.

The flood of last week was not as high as it has been before. In September, 1863, it was at least two feet higher, and in October, 1869, a foot higher. The recent flood did more damage than all the others put together, for the reason that it came at a time when the ground was soft, and would work much more easily than in the fall.

Hundreds of acres of good fertile soil has gone down the Delaware, and there is not a highway between Liberty and Sidney that is not damaged, while some are utterly ruined.

Roscoe, the stalwart village of the Beaverkili Valley, is in ruins, as there is not a house on the lowlands that is not injured in some way, and nct a cellar that is not full of water. Some of the people of that village deserted their homes, last Saturday night, when the second freshet came, fearing it might be as bad as that of the previous Tuesday. The great danger now is that the many acid factories of that section will so cut away the timber from the steep hill-frequent occurrence than in the past. The town of Reckland, Sullivan county, no doubt suffered the most or any town on the Delaware water-RUSTICUS.

And now an editor of a leading medical journal comes out with a note of warning in the use of bread and butter. It seems the germ is there, too. Cotton, oil, grain, stocks and beef all scored advances, yesterday.

TUESDAY, APRIL 16, 1895.

Messrs. Vanderbilt, Morgan and Iselin, who are building a yacht to defend the America's cup, have decided to name their boat "Defender."

Prices for American beef in Fngland have actually decreased since the advance in prices in this country began. The beef trust only exists for the oppression of American consumers.

Secretary Morton has modified the quarantine regulations in regard to the importation of cattle so as to permit the importation at designated ports of Mexican cattle for immediate slaughter. This is the Secretary's first blow at the beef combine and is expected to result in such large importations that; rices for cattle on the hoof will soon show a marked decline.

It is announced in Europe that Dr. Nansen, a Norwegian explorer, who salled from Christiana in June, 1893, has succeeded in reaching the North Pole and planting the Norwegian flig there. According to the report his vessel drifted with Artic ice until very high latitude was reached when the explorer and his party landed and continued northward until they came to the earth's axis on a chain of mountains.

Kings county Supervisors voted yesterday, to transfer to the State for $1 the county farm for the ineans at St. Johnland, which, with the buildings, cost $3,000,000. The transfer is preliminary to the State assuming care of the Kings county insane. The yearly expenditures at St. Johnland have been about $375,000, and that amount will have to be added to the general tax levy of the State for the care of the insane. It is estimated that State care will save Kings county about $220,000 a year.

As affecting one of Middletown's industries, the manufacture of files. the following from the Engineer, of London, the leading publication of the kind in the world, is of public interest:

"In the lighter trades there is a good deal of talk at present about American and British rasps and files. The Americans are undoubtedly offering their wares at much lower prices than our local manufacturers, and there is a growing impression that the United States manufacturers are likely to command more of the market than they have hitherto

Our tariff imposes a duty of about 60 per cent, on files of small sizes.

The Tribune's customary Monday editorial, under the headline "Money and Business," yesterday, says "Sales of wool for two weeks of April have been 12,705,300 pounds, against 9,756,900, last year, and 8,966,-900 in 1892, and it is noticed with satisfaction that manufacturers are making vigorous preparations to compete with foreign producers in branches for which it was feared the new tariff would exclude them." In the same article there is found this: "Except from differences about wages, it might be said that industries are all doing well." As there are only about 12,000 operatives on strike in the whole country, their number is of small consequence to the business of a population of 70,-000,000 souls.

On Monday of last week, while in a lucid interval he was sitting alone with one of his daughters, he suddenly said, "Mary, I'm going to kill myself," and seizing a cup and razor he started up stairs. PROBABLY FATAL STABBING AFFRAY. Chauncey Casterline Terribly Injured By "Black Joe," an Italiau, Who Laid in Wait For Him.

The village of Port Jervis is considerably excited to-day over a probably fatal stabbing affray which occured last night.

The victim is Chauncey Casterline twenty-three years old who lived with his father, Wm. Casterline, at Fiddler's Elbow, about three-quarters of a mile from Carpenters Point.

Casterline was in Hare's caloon at Carpenter's Point, last night, as were also two Italians known as "Black Joe" and "Crazy Joe." Casterline and "Black Joe" got into an altercation over a game of dice.

The Italians left the seloon and, as was afterwards proved, laid in wait for Castelline. The latter left the saloon about midnight to go to his

About 1 o'clock, this morning, Officer Grimley, who was on the Carpenter's Point beat, found Casterline lying on the sidewalk. He was taken to the hospital, where it was found that he had been stabbed in the shoulder and abdomen. From the latter wound the intestines were protruding and had been punctured by the knife.

Casterline named the two Italians as his assailants and they were arrested and taken to the hospital, where "Black Joe" was identified by Casterline as the man who did the cutting. Both dagos were locked up. It is not thought possible that Casterline can recover.

CRACE CHURCH ELECTION-

successful Ticket

As made public by one of our contemporaries there were two tickets voted, yesterday, at the election of wardens and vestrymen of Grace Church for the ensuing year. It is somewhat of a departure from long established usage to give publication to anything more than the result of such elections, but passing this by, it is due Mr. E. Millen that it be made known that the use of his name on one of the tickets was without his knowledge and, consequently, without his consent; and further, that al though earnestly urged to become a candidate for re-election to the vestry, of which he has for several terms been a conspicuously useful and hardworking member, he most positively declined to do so.

What is said n the foregoing as to use of names in the so-called "defeated ticket," as to knowledge and consent, applies with equal force to Mr. Joseph B. Swalm and Mr. Joseph J. Jarvis.

GENERAL GOND 245 STORY.

A Romance Begun In the Thick of the 1. ght at Gettysburg. "At Gettysburg, while the fight was the hortest," said General Cordon, "I noticed a handsome young Federal officer, whose bravery was conspicuous. After the battl had subsided I found this gallant soldier lying on the field. He was dying and begged me to send a message to the Union lines. His wife had decided to share with him the fortunes of war and was at the officers' quarters in the Federal army.

"I ordered my men to take the wounded officer to our camp and to make him as comfortable as possible. Then I sent some men with a flag of truce to the Union lines with the message from the dying officer to his wife.

"Late that night the party returned, and the meeting of the dying husband and his young wife was the most affecting scene which I have ever witnessed "I was compelled to go elsewhere, but before I left the sorrowing couple I ascertained that the name of the wounded officer was Major Barlow of New York. I often thought of the sad incident, which made upon me one of the most vivid impressions that I received

"Shortly afterward a consin of mine whose name and initials were the same as mine was killed in battle.

"The war closed. Ten years afterward I was with a distinguished gentleman Need Washing or Polishing? in New York who invited me to be present at a dinner he was to give that evening. Among the guests to whom I was introduced was a certain Major Barlow. I supposed that he was a cousin of the man whom I had left dying on the field at Gettysburg with his devoted wife beside him.

" 'I once knew a Major Barlow,' I said to my new acquaintance.

" I once knew a General Gordon,' he answered. "But the Major Barlow I knew is dead, ' I added. "And the General Gordon whom I knew is also dead, ' he answered. "I started to tell him the story of the Major Barlow whom I had left dying

DEFYING ILL LUCK.

"The Order of the Opal" Organized by the Salt Spillers and Thirteen Club.

To the "Thirteen club" and the "Salt Spillers' comes the 'Order of the Opal." This is an organization designed to challenge ill luck and show how easily it may be bulled when deliberately faced. The club has much of the same rites as other clubs of its kind. It meets on Friday. Its rooms are decorated with peacock teathers.

The members make a point of walking under ladders, eating 13 at table, going and coming on Friday and spilling salt. It is not said that they break mirrors with deliberation, but anybody who does break a mirror is held in great consideration by the other members. The opal is the badge of membership and is put forth on all occasions. It is urged, however, that all these efforts to overthrow superstition fail of their purpose, inasmuch as ill luck cannot be in-

The element of chance is absolutely necessary to its success. An even worse element to be removed is the pride and pleasure most people take in their superstition. A superstition to an actress in the way of advertisement is only less valuable than the loss of her jewels. To other people superstitions are of importance in giving piquancy to biographical notices and sketches of character now so popular in current weeklies .-New York Advertiser.

Was So Grieved.

A little story is told of Sibyl Sanderson apropos of her debut at Paris. The next morning the papers teemed with the ravings of the critics, the "beaute de Sibyl," her voice and her costumes. There were also telegrams of congratulations, letters and cards. The young divette looked at them all carefully and then made a mone. "Not satisfied yet?" asked some one. "What is the matter?" "Ab, I am so disappointed," mouned the sad faced singer. "I had thought successful singers always got love letters from unknown admirers. There is not one for mo!" It is to be supposed that time healed the sorrow.-New York Mail and Express.

THE NEW SHERLUCK HOLMES.

The Great Detective Probes the Coldslaw Robbery. For the nonce Holmes was slighting his cocaine and was jeyously jabbing him-self with morphice—his favorite 75 per cent solution-when a knock came at the door. It was our landlacy with the telegram. Holmes opened it and read it care-

"II'm," he said "What do you think of this. Watson? ' I picked it up "Come at once. We need you 72 Chinchbugge place, S. W.,

"Why, it's from Athelney Jones," I remarked.

"Just so," said Holmes. "Call a cab." We were soon at the address given, 72 Chinchbugge place, being the town house of the downger Counters of Coldslaw. It was an old fashioned mansion, somewhat weather beaten. The old hat stuffed in the broken pane in the drawing room gave the place an air of unstudied artistic negligence which we both remarked at the Athelney Jones met us at the door. He wore a troubled expression "Here's a pretty go, gentlemen," was his greeting. A forcible entrance has been made to Lady Coldslaw's boudoir, and the famous Coldslaw diamonds are stolen." Without a word Holmes drew out his pocketlens and examined the atmosphere. The whole thing wears an air of mystery." he said quietly.

We then entered the house. Lady Coldslaw was completely prostrated and could not be seen. We went at once to the scene of the robbery. There was no sign of any thing unusual in the boudoir, except that the windows and furniture had been smashed and the pictures had been removed from the walls. An attempt had been made by the thicf to steal the wall paper also. However, he had not succeed-It had rained the night before, and muddy footprints led us to the escritoire from which the jewels had been taken. A heavy smell of stale cigar smoke hung over the room. Aside from these hardly noticeable details, the despoiler had left no trace of his presence. In an instant Sherlock Holmes was down on his knees, examining the footprints with a stethoscope.
"H'm!" he said. "So you can make nothing out of this, Jones: "No, sir," answered the detective, "but I hope to.

There's a big reward." Tr's all very simple, my good fellow," said Holmes. The robbery was committed at 3 o'clock this morning by a short. stout, middle aged, henpecked man with a cast in his eye. His name is Smythe, and he lives at 239 Toff terrace."

Jones fairly gasped. "What! Major Smythe, one of the highest thought of and richest men in the city?"

"The same." In helf an hour we were at Smythe's pedside. Desnite his protestations, he was pinioned and driven to prison.

"For heaven's sake, Holmes," said I when we returned to our rooms, "how did rou solve the problem so quickly? "On, it's easy, dead easy," said he. "As soon as we entered the room I noticed the cigar smoke It was cigar smoke from a eigar that had been given a husband by his wife. I could tell that, for I have made a study of cigar smoke. Any other but a hennecked man throws such eigars away. Then I could tell by the footprints that the man had had appendicitis. Now, no one but members of the Four Hundred have that. Who, then, was henpecked in the Four Hundred and had had appen-dicitis recently? Why, Major Smythe, of course. He is middle aged, stout and has a cast in his eye."

I could not belp but admire my companion's reasoning and told him so. "Well," he said, "it is very simple if you know Thus ended the Coldslaw robbery, so far

s we were concerned. It may be as well to add, however, that Jones' arrant jealousy caused him to resort to the lowest trickery to throw discredit upon the discovery of my gifted friend. He allowed Major Smythe to prove a most conclusive alibi and then meanly arrested a notorious burglar as the thief on the flimsiest proof and convicted him. This burglar had been caught while trying to pawn some diamonds that seem ed to be a portion of the plunder taken

Of course Jone - got all the credit. I showed the newspaper accounts to Holmes He only laugned and said: "You see how it is, Watson. Scotland Yard, as usual, gets the glory." As I perceived he was going to play "Sweet Marie" on his vioin I reached for the morphine myself .-Minneapolis Journal.
